

Agarwal youth camp

Agarwal 2011 youth camp was one of the most exciting, hilarious and friendly camp I've ever been to. We went to a place called as Cho Yeh which is located in Livingston. It is located about 90 miles North of Houston.

The camp was packed with fun games such as zip-lining, high ropes, basketball, archery, wrist rockets, gaga ball and much more unbelievable stuff to play. We also had a pranks night at the camp and we played some playful pranks.

I thought the counselors were the best part of the camp. They all did their best so I and all the other kids could have fun. The counselor I'd like to thank most is Rahul Bhaiya. He was the organizer of the camp.

I liked making new friends and the camp T- shirt was awesome! The food was also good.

This year I had an amazing time at the camp. Next year I am looking forward to having a blast with my friends who couldn't join me this year.

Thank you!
